

DevOpsDays will be returning to Chattanooga on November 12, 2019, with the backing of the Chattanooga Technology Council. The inaugural event in 2018 was highly successful, with great speakers like John Willis and Jessica Deen, and over 250 attendees. We're hoping to build on the success in 2018 with an even better event in 2019.

Who Will Attend?

DevOpsDays Chattanooga will attract a varied attendance of local IT professionals including developers, operations, cybersecurity, scrum masters, managers, business analysts, and many other business and technology decision makers. We anticipate continued support from our three large local employers, Tennessee Valley Authority (TVA), Blue Cross Blue Shield, and UNUM, that provided generous support and substantial workforce attendance in 2018.

Why Sponsor?

The DevOpsDays event format offers a unique cross-section of technical and management personnel within organizations. Due to the date and location of the event, companies from Chattanooga, Atlanta, Nashville, Knoxville, Huntsville and many others will be in attendance. The location of vendor tables in the main hangout area allow natural conversations between vendors and attendees throughout the day. In addition to it being a fantastic marketing opportunity, a majority proceeds from the event goes towards the ChaTech Scholarship Fund, with over $7,000 donated by DevOpsDays Chattanooga last year.

Location and Venue

DevOpsDays will be held at the Chattanooga Hotel in the heart of downtown Chattanooga.
